Woman Made Gallery Finds a New Home

After ten years of promoting greater awareness of and opportunities for women artists, Woman Made Gallery moves into its new space in January 2003. The new location will provide Woman Made with additional space for exhibitions, workshops and educational programs.

For the first time in its history, the Gallery will establish its home within a creative hub of artists and non-profit organizations that reside at the Acme Artist Community. The Gallery will occupy 2200 square feet at 2418 W. Bloomingdale Avenue, Chicago, IL 60647, just south of the Western Ave. stop on the Blue line el.

In addition to offering a variety of common-use areas, the newly renovated building is a center of flourishing creativity inhabited by various artists who reside in custom designed studio/living spaces. The Acme Artists Community is one of the projects of the Near Northwest Arts Council, a non-profit organization that develops programs, creative projects and artist housing in collaboration with a network of community development interests.

WMG Executive Director, Beate Minkovski, says, "We feel very privileged to share Near Northwest Arts Council's vision and are looking forward to taking part in their developing community."

A gala opening reception is being planned for Friday, January 24th, 2003. WMG will then celebrate its new space and first exhibitions of the New Year; the group show, Normal/Abnormal: Bodies & Minds and a solo show by Ann Starr.

Woman Made Gallery's Bloomingdale Avenue space will accommodate both Group and Solo exhibitions as well as a Gift Shop, Women Artists' Resource Library and the Gallery's Permanent Collection displaying artworks on a rotating basis.

Regular Gallery programming will continue uninterrupted and Gallery hours will remain the same. Visit the Woman Made website often for the latest Gallery news: www.womanmade.org
